JAIL FOR BETTING SHOP RAIDERS

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

TWO gun-toting bandits who carried out a string of armed robberies on betting shops have been jailed for a total of 20 years.

The masked duo brought terror to bookmakers in Haringey and neighbouring Enfield last summer after threatening staff at gunpoint.

David Navarro, 25, of Handsworth Road, Tottenham, and David Dixon, also 25, of Philip Lane, Tottenham, were each sentenced to 10-year jail terms at the Old Bailey on Wednesday last week, having been convicted of possession of a firearm and conspiracy to rob at their trial in February.

The two first struck at William Hill bookmakers, in Durants Road, Ponders End, Enfield, shortly after 7pm on July 26 and escaped with £200. Witnesses had noticed a silver coloured Audi A3 car in the area before and after the robbery, which was their getaway vehicle.

A few weeks later, just after 8pm on August 31, they held up Ladbrokes betting shop in Great Cambridge Road in Tottenham, but fled empty-handed after quick-thinking staff activated the alarm.

A silver-coloured Audi A3 car was also seen in the area, matching the description of the vehicle spotted at the previous robbery.

The following morning, at 11.15am on September 1, they struck at another Ladbrokes in Philip Lane, Tottenham, fleeing with £200 after demanding money at gunpoint from the cashier.

CCTV showed the masked pair getting into a silver-coloured Audi 3.

Their luck ran out six days later when police were alerted to two men behaving suspiciously in a silver-coloured Audi A3 outside a betting shop in Hermitage Road, Haringay.

Inside, Navarro and Dixon were changing their clothes and putting on gloves so as not to leave fingerprints.

Police found them sitting in the back of the car wearing multiple layers of clothing.

During a search of the vehicle, they found an imitation firearm.

Speaking after sentencing, Detective Constable Nick Larkey, from the Met Police's Flying Squad, said: "I am pleased with these sentences and hope that they will serve as a deterrent.

"The effects of becoming a victim of crime run far deeper than a loss of cash or property and I hope that the convictions bring a measure of comfort to the staff threatened by Navarro and Dixon."

Damaged: Hollyland bakery, in West Mews, Northumberland Park

Firefighters douse flames at bakery

FLAMES ripped through a bakery on a Tottenham industrial estate at the weekend, leaving the premises an unsafe blackened ruin.

The roof of the single-storey building, in West Mews, Northumberland Park, buckled and collapsed under the intense heat as more than 70 firefighters tackled the inferno on Saturday night and in the early hours of Sunday.

Four people had to be led from a nearby smoke-filled property.

The fire crews used jets to keep the heat from igniting a 2,000-litre diesel fuel tank nearby.

The Hollyland bakery produces pitta bread and patisseries which it distributes to small retail outlets as well as supermarket chains Tesco and Asda.

Its website says it employs 22 staff.

Tottenham fire station manager: Ian Frame said: "Crews were confronted with a large fire when they arrived and worked hard to confine it to the bakery and stop it from spreading to any neighbouring factory units.

"There was some fuel stored on site, but crews isolated the supply and it was not involved in the fire. Thankfully, there were no injuries."

The cause of the fire is being investigated.

Is it a bird? Is it a plane? No – it's a cake

HOLY edible superheroes, Batman!

These life-sized sculptures of Superman and fellow caped crusader Batman are actually made from cake.

The strikingly realistic, sugar-coated, six-foot replicas of the superheroes are the creation of self-taught cake artist Rose Macefield, who will be displaying them at Alexandra Palace when it stages Cake International – the world's largest cake decorating show – on the weekend of April 16 and 17.

They are featured to coincide with the Batman vs Superman film, now on general release.

"I enjoyed working on them, but they've definitely worn me out," said Rose

The show highlights hundreds of cake competition entries, showcasing UK and international baking brilliance.

Over-the-limit star hit with driving ban

SINGER and former X Factor judge Tulisa Contostavlos has been banned from driving after she was involved in a collision in Southgate last year.

The former N Dubz star was driving her Ferrari shortly before midnight on September 10 when her car collided with a Saab near the roundabout outside Southgate Tube station.

The 27-year-old, from Enfield, pleaded guilty at Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court on Monday to driving with 54 micrograms of alcohol per 100ml of breath.

The legal limit is 35 micrograms.

She was disqualified from driving for 15 months and fined £1,100 for drink driving. She was also ordered to pay £85 in costs as well as a victim surcharge of £100.

Antisocial behaviour 'is on our doorstep'

By Claire Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

INTIMIDATING behaviour, vandalism and rough sleepers are just some of problems plaguing a group of residents in Edmonton Green.

Geary Court residents are "scared to death" by the gangs of youths who have got past the external door and set up home – armed with mattresses and chairs – on the landings of the sixth and seventh floors.

The youths congregate outside flats, smoking drugs, and intimidating anyone who challenges them, according to midwife Maria Petrou.

She is one of several key workers who bought her flat and moved into the L&Q Charitable Housing Association block eight years ago.

She has been complaining to the association, her landlord, for years, but she claims her pleas have fallen on deaf ears.

Over the past month, the number of people and the problems have escalated as word spreads.

Maria, 34, works as a midwife at the Royal London Hospital, in Whitechapel, east London.

She said: "There have always been gangs hanging about on the stairs, smoking weed, but now it's got a lot worse."

"They have moved on to the landings so they are literally outside our door sleeping rough. There's vandalism, used condoms, burn marks on the carpets. It's absolutely terrifying. We have tried to get them to leave, but we are all scared of confronting them.

"Last year a 53-year-old man [Christopher Barry, as reported in the Advertiser] was stabbed to death by a 13-year-old in the next block because he asked him to leave. People are really fed up."

One of the external doors is operated with a fob card, but can be opened from the inside and propped open. The other can be accessed via the flats' bins outside.

Maria's partner Antonis Mikelis, 33, a music teacher, said word seems to be spreading about the "warm, indoor place, with carpets, to sleep".

He said: "It is so bad now that people are literally outside the door to our flat. I am going out of the flat every hour to check that there isn't a fire started, or worse. We are living in fear."

An L&Q spokesperson said: "We are aware of the issues at Geary Court and are working hard with residents, the council and local police to address them."

"Since we began managing the block in 2014 we have taken numerous measures and are in the process of taking action against a number of responsible individuals. We appreciate the concerns of Geary Court's residents and are grateful for their ongoing cooperation and patience as we work with them and our partners at the council and police to resolve the issue."

Living in fear: Antonis Mikelis

Packing a punch: Junior members of the UK Martial Arts and Fitness Academy, who picked up a stack of medals at the taekwondo national championships

Little belters punch above their weight

MANY may be no more than “knee-high to a grasshopper,” but junior members of a Southgate-based martial arts club sure are little belters.

Youngsters from the UK Martial Arts and Fitness Academy demonstrated their fighting skills at the taekwondo national championships in Bracknell, Berkshire.

Senior members also excelled, helping the 40-strong team to a stunning medal haul.

The club, which holds weekly classes at Southgate Leisure Centre, in Winchmore Hill Road, Eversley Primary School, in Chaseville Park Road, Winchmore Hill, and Trinity at Bowes Methodist Church, in Palmerston Road, Palmers Green, took home 48 medals in the two disciplines of poomsae (patterns) and kyrougi (fighting), finishing runners-up in the team events in both for the second consecutive year.

Proud coach and fourth dan master Manjula Senanyake said: “This was the third year for us in the tournament. It’s been great to watch students of all ages improve and succeed. We’re really proud of our team success.”

Mayor gets ready for charity lock-in

By Claire Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

IT’S not a sight you often see – but the mayor of Enfield will be “caged” in a locked garden in a bid to raise thousands to help dementia patients.

Patricia Ekechi will don her robes and set up camp in a garden at Chase Farm Hospital, which stands inside two long glass windows, that travel the length of the Highlands Wing corridor.

The mayor will be able to be viewed by passers-by who she hopes will donate to her justgiving page and help her reach her £5,000 target.

The money raised will go towards a £250,000 project to redevelop the garden space as a therapeutic, sensory street scene for dementia patients, designed to provoke memory recall and provide a stimulating environment.

Ms Ekechi, said: “I am determined to do all I can to raise a considerable sum. I plan to remain in the garden at a desk where I can make and receive calls from my mobile phone and iPad.

“Dementia does not get enough recognition and I hope by taking part in this ‘lock-in’ more people will take notice and give what they can.

“I will be locked in until I reach my target. Help me!”

The Chase Farm Charity is trying to raise £120,000 to redevelop this garden and another stroke and neuro rehabilitation garden for patients within the hospital, in The Ridge-way, Enfield.

They have raised just over half of the money to complete the gardens, which are due to be finished in the next few months.

The dementia garden has been designed with support from patients and their families. It includes a street with shop fronts, street lamps and individual front gardens.

Chase Farm’s community fundraiser Savita Taylor, said: “We are delighted the mayor has chosen to support the redevelopment of our dementia garden.

“Dementia is a long-term condition which has a high impact on a person’s health, personal circumstances and family life. A number of studies have shown the benefits of therapeutic gardens and horticultural activities for patients with dementia.

“I will make sure she is fed and watered, but other than that she will be remaining locked in.”

The lock-in is taking place on Friday, April 15. To make a donation, go to www.justgiving.com/freeEnfieldsmayor

Hot stuff: The cast from the show in action

Steel yourselves for the Full Monty

A THEATRE group spared shoppers’ blushes by refraining from doing the “Full Monty” while promoting the upcoming production of its comedy musical in Enfield Town.

The tale of a group of out-of-work steel workers who form a striptease act is being staged by Finchley and Friern Barnet Operatic Society at the Dugdale Centre, in London Road, Enfield, from Monday, April 25, to Saturday, April 30.

And members of the cast gave shoppers a sneak peak of what to expect by performing a medley of songs from the show at the town centre’s marketplace bandstand on Saturday.

“It certainly caused a buzz and drew big crowds,” said the group’s publicity officer Chris Henry.

“Hopefully, it whetted their appetites enough for them to buy a ticket and see our lads go all the way!”

The musical is an Americanised adaptation of the 1997 film, which starred Robert Carlyle, and is set in Buffalo, in New York State, rather than in Sheffield, South Yorkshire, as in the film.

The plot revolves around six hard-up, unemployed steel workers who decide to form a strip act called Hot Metal and put on a show for the ladies at their local club to earn some much-needed cash.

They vow to go one better than professional male acts by doing a “Full Monty” and stripping off all the way.

Although it has an adult theme, full frontal nudity would not be allowed.

However, the actors do end up starkers – but with some strategically placed props to preserve their modesty.

“The musical was nominated for 10 Tony awards when it premiered on Broadway in 2000 and features a variety of catchy, feel-good tunes,” added Mr Henry.

“The roles require our boys to bare all and the audience won’t be disappointed!”

Good Scouts help to transform wetlands

Youngsters lend a hand as Firs Farm project takes shape

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

AN "insect hotel" was created by Scouts, Beavers and Cubs as the 18th Edmonton Scout Group rolled up their sleeves to help out with the transformation of Firs Farm wetlands in Winchmore Hill.

A new wetland habitat is being created which will attract birds, frogs, dragonflies and other wildlife – without losing Firs Farm's sports facilities.

The youngsters also took part in planting trees and bulbs as well as spreading bark chippings to create paths and building log piles – and they received an educational tour of the site.

Toni Guider, chair of the Friends of Firs Farm, said: "This used to be a blank green canvas and all we had were football pitches. Now it's a place for all the community."

Digging for victory: Mia Williams, Eleanor Wray and Sophie Merchant plant bulbs

The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which? Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Enfield, Edmonton, Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill & Southgate

Stay of execution for children's unit following criticism

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

COUNCIL health chiefs have taken Enfield's clinical commissioning group to task for trying to plough ahead with plans to close a children's ward.

The Advertiser has seen an exchange of letters between Abdul Abdullahi, the chairman of Enfield Council's Health Scrutiny Workstream, and Dr Mo Abedi, the CCG's chairman.

The letters concern the proposed closure of the paediatric assessment unit at Chase Farm Hospital, in The Ridgeway, Enfield, which the CCG has said treats just two children a day.

At a meeting of the council's health scrutiny committee last month, Dr Abedi told councillors that due to financial pressures, funding would be withdrawn from the unit, meaning it would have to be closed on April 1.

The announcement was met with shock by both the MP for Enfield North Joan Ryan and committee members, who revealed that the first they had heard of the plan was at the meeting.

After writing to Dr Abedi, Mr Abdullahi was able to obtain a series of concessions over the unit's future.

In his letter to Dr Abedi, Mr Abdullahi, an Edmonton Green ward councillor, makes it clear that he and the other members of the committee were shocked by the CCG's unilateral actions.

"The presentation (on the plans to close the unit) stated that attendances at the PAU have been consistently low, but we were not informed of how this compares to other, similar units in neighbouring hospitals," said Mr Abdullahi.

"It would appear that demand for the service exists and is evidenced by the high numbers of children attending A&E."

Still open: The paediatric assessment unit at Chase Farm Hospital was due to close last week – but Enfield CCG has confirmed this has been shelved pending further public consultation

Mr Abdullahi added: "The health panel opposes the substantial variation of this service until the outcome of the urgent care review is known."

In his response, Dr Abedi conceded that in future there would be "more informal discussion" with the committee about potential changes to services commissioned by the CCG.

He added: "I apologise that this was not done effectively enough around the proposed changes to the PAU at Chase Farm Hospital."

The letter, dated April 1, confirmed that the CCG was finalising a consultation document which members of the public would be able to complete to give their views on how the closure of the unit would make an impact on them.

Mr Abdullahi told the Advertiser he was glad the CCG had formally said it would not go ahead with the initial plans to close the unit.

He added: "I am glad that the CCG has decided not to implement the change on April 1 as they planned before but rather to conduct a public consultation on the future of the PAU."

Conference will highlight the benefits of bicycles

A CONFERENCE exploring how investment in safe cycling infrastructure can benefit a community is taking place in the borough this week.

The Cycling Towards A Better Enfield conference is at the Dugdale Centre, in Enfield Town, on Friday, from 9am to 3.30pm.

It will feature workshops on health, travel and the economy.

Speakers include Andy Summers, the cycling strategy and planning manager for Transport for London, Lucy Saunders, a public health specialist, Audrey de Nazelle, air quality lecturer at Imperial College London, and James Rees, the senior transport planner for engineering firm Royal Haskoning DHV.

While the conference is going on, there will be a mini cycling fair taking place in Enfield Town where shoppers and residents will be invited to try out bikes from Holland, Brompton folding bikes and electric bikes.

There will also be a mechanic on hand to help sort out even the rustiest of bikes.

The conference at the Dugdale, in London Road, is a joint effort between the London Cycling Campaign, Enfield Council and the Dutch embassy in London.

It is being billed as a way of "exploring the benefits of investment in cycling, for economy, health and travel".

The conference and cycling fair are free to attend.

Anyone interested in attending can contact events@lcc.org.uk to reserve a place.

Rosemary Avenue Veterinary Clinic is awarded internationally recognised Cat Friendly Clinic status

The International Society of Feline Medicine launched the Cat Friendly Clinic initiative three years ago, to encourage veterinary practices everywhere to make the best efforts to improve the welfare of cats in their care. The programme advises practices on how to make their environment as welcoming to cats as possible, as well as providing support in staff training, handling techniques and cat-specific client care.

Shoplifters target meat stocks with spate of robberies

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE manager of a supermarket has admitted that thieves have been making a habit of looting fresh meat from the store's shelves.

Hasan Imam, from the Co-operative supermarket, in Lancaster Road, Enfield, says that thieves frequently make off with shelves of meat products to re-sell on the black market.

A resident who lives in Armfield Road, next to the supermarket, told the Advertiser that last Tuesday every piece of packaged, refrigerated meat lining the chiller cabinets had been taken by shoplifters in a single raid – and only two packets of beef mince were left on the shelves.

The chiller cabinets are located near the entrance, while the tills are at the other end of the store.

"It is not just last Tuesday," said Mr Imam. "It is quite random, but we do get a lot of shoplifters. They sometimes take as much as £40 or £50 of meat at a time."

"We have a policy that our staff do not put themselves in danger by chasing them or by physically restraining them."

He said that in a bid to combat the thieves staff are encouraged to limit the amount of stock they have on the shelves at any one time and try and keep an eye on people they recognise as repeat offenders.

A Co-operative spokesman said: "We work closely with police when shoplifting takes place at our stores and we always seek to prosecute anyone found guilty of stealing from us."

"We do not discuss security procedures in order to protect our staff and customers."

Raided: Shoplifters have been taking meat products off the shelves in the Co-op store, in Lancaster Road, near the corner with Armfield Road

Scouts honoured

SIX Scouts from the same Southgate unit have gained the movement's highest honours after a series of tough challenges including digging wells in a remote village in Namibia, in southern Africa.

Explorer Scouts Dom O'Shea, Elizabeth Broderick, Joe Wilson, Pascal Lamb-Camarena and Shane Rasiah, all aged 20, and 19-year-old Stephen Chessum have all attained the Queen's Scout award, together with the Duke of Edinburgh gold award

They are all members of the Hatters Explorer Scout unit, which meets at Southgate Methodist Church, in The Bourne.

The international challenge was the highlight for many of the group, whose remarkable shared achievement also included a four-day expedition in the Peak District when the Scouts climbed the craggy, 2,000-foot-high Kinder Scout plateau.

As Queen's Scouts the six are required to represent the movement at state occasions and two of them have already performed the role as a guard of honour for the Queen at the Cenotaph on Remembrance Sunday.

Commissioner for Scouting in Southgate Steve Smith said "For someone taking over the leadership of Scouting in the area, this is a tremendous boost."

"It's been a long time since we had a Queen's Scout in Southgate – and now we have six, which is remarkable."

Chickenshed Theatre

It is so exciting that from this week Chickenshed has a new artistic director – Lou Stein. Lou will be leading the artistic vision and direction of our company and taking it to the next step of what has been our remarkable journey to change people's lives through theatre.

When Mary Ward and I founded Chickenshed 42 years ago, little did we think that this company would reach the heights that it has. It's been quite a journey from the old chicken barn on Lady Elizabeth Byng's Wrotham Park estate to our amazing, purpose-built theatre complex.

We are not "retiring", but are taking on the role of guardians and ambassadors. We are still heavily involved and are thrilled to welcome Lou, who will lead our talented team of theatre-makers.

Lou is a hugely respected director and writer. He founded the renowned Gate Theatre in Notting Hill and served as an inspirational and extremely successful artistic director at the Watford Palace Theatre. His first task will be to oversee our brand new and original new play In The Absence Of Silence, which opens in our studio theatre on April 27.

Since our announcement we have received messages of love and congratulations from such amazing friends as Dame Judi Dench, Sir Kenneth Branagh, Sir Derek Jacobi, Lord David Puttnam, Jeremy Irons, Sir Cliff Richard, Christopher Biggins, Richard O'Brien, Melanie Hill, Geoffrey Palmer, Claire Skinner and Michelle Collins – the list is so long. Although these are all people you will recognise we are also thrilled that local community support has been tremendous and both Mary and I thank you from the bottom of our hearts for believing in Chickenshed, and for having us in your community.

This is an unpleasant taste of things to come

DUE to road works in Green Lanes Palmers Green, close to The Alfred Herring, we have been given a taste of things to come.

For a week from March 21, the road width was comparable to having cycle lanes. This created vastly increased congestion, far greater levels of pollution and a traffic hold-up from the North Circular to Winchmore Hill.

On the bus I was on it took 45 minutes to get from Hedge Lane to just past Aldermans Hill.

The bus then had to change destination by only going one stop more and turn around, leaving a load of passengers having to then wait and try to get on any following buses.

The traffic jams each morning must have made hundreds, if not thousands, of people late for work and children late for school and led to missed hospital and doctor's appointments, job interviews and other important meetings.

Doctors, nurses, police officers, social workers etc must have been delayed from getting to where they needed to be and emergency vehicles unable to get through the traffic quickly.

But never mind – the few cyclists were OK. They didn't wait patiently, safely with everybody else, they just disregarded the Highway Code and laws of the road by riding on pedestrianised areas (pavements) and went through red lights.

Clubs have vital role to play in child protection

THE Adam Johnson case has pulled into sharp focus the way child protection and safeguarding is considered by some football clubs.

This is even more worrying when you consider the importance football plays in the lives of many young people and the responsibilities players have as role models.

Johnson's behaviour throughout this sordid affair has been inexcusable and made worse by his not guilty pleas, which forced his young victim to suffer the harrowing experience of giving evidence in court.

However, the NSPCC's concern lies not in the behaviour of a single individual – although that is itself horrifying – but in the approach taken by Sunderland Football Club when confronted with a serious child protection issue.

We are worried this could be a cultural problem within football as a whole and find it concerning clubs may not see incidents such as these as a child protection issue.

This is not only about one rogue player who behaved badly, but a club that seemingly did not have child protection priorities embedded into its culture.

It was not equipped to handle these allegations and seemingly did not deal with them appropriately, or indeed seriously.

Furthermore, it is concerning if this is being forgotten by a club at the top level of football.

Clubs should be reminded of the high profile their players hold, be aware of their organisational safeguarding responsibilities to young people and be prepared to act decisively.

The NSPCC has written to the Football Association to hammer home the message that this kind of behaviour should not be tolerated at any level and certainly not brushed under the carpet.

We want to work with the FA to ensure that its strong measures are embedded into the culture of every club in the country.

Why it's a resounding no from us

I READ with great interest the letter from Keith Bilton ("How hard did they look?", March 9) and as a supporter of keeping the green belt intact I felt compelled to write.

I am extremely concerned about the tactics of Wren Academy. They are relentlessly pursuing the fields on Enfield Road as their preferred site for the large school and so-called "community facilities".

They have, I believe, advised the EFA (Education Funding Authority) – the government department responsible for purchasing land to build schools on – that this is the only suitable land available for the school.

Is this really the case, or is it as previously stated an attempt to offload land the London Diocese no longer wants and can make a nice profit on?

In the run-up to the mayoral elections, I am heartened to read that all candidates openly agree that London's green belt be given the strongest protection as there are alternatives available.

I wholeheartedly agree and so do more than 5,000 supporters of Enfield RoadWatch, the local campaign group. In addition 82 per cent of Enfield residents, who responded to the recent Local Plan consultation process, stated that they did not want the green belt built on.

I would like to remind the Wren Academy and the London Diocese to remember its Christian values and take note of this resounding "no" from the Enfield community to the unnecessary building on the green belt.

Help bridge funding gap

I WOULD like to invite readers to sign up for the 2016 London Bridges Challenge, which is open for applications.

It is taking place on Sunday, October 9, and thousands of people will walk 10 miles across 13 of London's most iconic bridges, including London Bridge, Waterloo Bridge and finally crossing Tower Bridge to raise money for Diabetes UK.

The London Bridges challenge is for a good cause – and is also a great day out for family and friends.

Diabetes UK supports 3.9 million people in the UK living with diabetes – a serious condition which, left undiagnosed or poorly managed, can lead to devastating long-term complications, including blindness, heart disease and stroke.

Walking is also a great way to keep physically active and this, combined with a healthy diet, can help you maintain a healthy weight and reduce your chance of getting type 2 diabetes.

For people already living with type 1 or type 2 diabetes, getting plenty of exercise and following a healthy diet is also key to managing their condition.

Find out more at https://www.diabetes.org.uk/Get\_involved/Fundraising-events/bridgeschallenge/ – or you can email londonbridges@diabetes.org.uk, or call our events fundraising team on 0345 123 2399.

FAMILY ANNOUNCEMENTS

ANNE-MARIE SANDERSON

Final fling: Antoinette Satchell is keeping her cake design under wraps until the winner of the competition is announced the day before the Queen's birthday

Antoinette's in the running to design 90th birthday treat

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A CREATIVE cake maker is in the running to whip up an upmarket supermarket's homage to the Queen's big birthday later this month.

Waitrose asked bakers from across the UK to submit their designs for a special commemorative cake they will stock to mark the Queen's 90th birthday.

Cake decoration and patisserie expert Antoinette Satchell, 55, of Eaton Park Road, Palmers Green, spotted the call-out to entrants on the supermarket's website.

Taken with the idea of creating a regal-themed cake design, she whipped up her vision and asked her photographer daughter, Lucy, 28, to take a picture to send to Waitrose.

And now, out of hundreds of entrants, she has been selected as a finalist in the race to be crowned the most regal baker of them all.

"I grew up in Victoria and the bus to school used to go past Buckingham Palace every morning," Antoinette told the Advertiser.

"In summer we used to get so excited at the thought of catching a glimpse of her if there was a garden party on. Those memories of Buckingham Palace on the bus to school inspired me to create something regal, but I can't say too much about the design, just in case."

Designing show-topping birthday cakes is second nature to Antoinette, who kicked off her catering career 27 years ago when she made her first cake – to mark her daughter's first birthday.

From that day she caught the baking bug and has never looked back. Inspired by what she could create, she began studying at Southgate College while her children were still young, picking up a raft of qualifications as well as a City and Guilds in patisserie.

"It was doing that qualification that made me realise I had a talent for manipulating sugar," she revealed.

After sailing through college she landed a job as an assistant chef at Le Faux Pas, a French restaurant in Southgate.

She then she worked for a catering company before setting up her own business, the Salon Glacé, in 2006, specialising in cake decorations.

"I am thrilled to have made it this far in the competition, it is really exciting," she added.

The winning design will be announced on April 20, the day before the Queen's birthday, and will then go on sale for £10.

Concern over online council tax payments

Resident reveals bank account fears

By Clare Casey

news.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

A PUSH to increase the number of residents paying their council tax online has been criticised after a series of technical glitches left people's bank details exposed.

Enfield Council is urging residents to sign up to Enfield Connected and pay their council tax by direct debit – even offering a cash incentive of £5,000 to one lucky winner entered into a prize draw.

But the glitches in the system have meant that data protection issues have been breached, leaving private details exposed.

Enfield resident Ruth Vrachimis told the Advertiser: "I set up my account, verified it through my email and then put in a request to set up a direct debit for my council tax.

"On submission of the request, I was taken to someone else's account. I could see all her bank details, what she owed."

The local authority said that by encouraging council tax payers to sign up for direct debit meant savings could be made elsewhere and stressed that "minor issues within the system were being addressed as a matter of urgency".

A council spokesman said: "Despite a few minor issues, Enfield Connected is a superb mechanism for residents to pay bills, find out what is going on in their communities and report issues online, and I would thoroughly recommend residents sign up.

"We understand that with the roll-out of any software there will be a few glitches. We take these seriously and expect them to be resolved very soon."

Enfield has a high rate of people paying its council tax – more than 98 per cent.

Achilleas Georgiou, the council's deputy leader, said: "So far 23,032 people have signed up to Enfield Connected and since the £5,000 prize draw 1,062 people have signed up to pay their council tax by direct debit.

"The £5,000 prize is being funded by the council. The savings made by collecting council tax and business rates by direct debit and also encouraging residents and businesses to use their Enfield Connected account far outweighs the prize incentive."

Planning decision delayed following last-minute letter

Facing an uncertain future: Essex Road resident Richard Berndes

By Claire Casey
newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

RESIDENTS battling to protect a conservation area are “hopeful” after they were granted a temporary reprieve at the 11th hour.

Planning officers had recommended that councillors give the go-ahead to build a four-bedroom house on a small patch of garden in Walsingham Road, which backs on to Essex Road, in Enfield Town.

More than 80 per cent of the plot of land falls within the town conservation area.

But just hours before the planning meeting a letter of objection was received, prompting the temporary reprieve.

Planning committee chairman Toby Simon said: “A detailed letter raising objections to the officers’ report was received by the council less than two-and-a-half hours before the start of the planning committee on March 22.

“As there was clearly inadequate time to consider their objections the committee reluctantly agreed to yet further delay in deciding this application, which is now due to be discussed at the planning committee on April 26.”

Speaking after the meeting, Richard Berndes,

47, of Essex Road, said: “Obviously, we are really pleased it didn’t get the go-ahead. But having said that we don’t know what that means for the future.

“We have been here before and the council seems like it’s bending over backwards for this development for some reason.

“It keeps saying that the borough needs more affordable housing. But how will a single four-bedroom house priced at about £700,000 help with the shortage of affordable housing?”

The saga of the development has been dragging on since 2010 when developers first submitted a planning application to the council.

The initial application was rejected.

However, in 2014, the developers submitted a second application and were successful.

Essex Road residents were so incensed by the decision that they brought a judicial review against the local authority.

And in February 2015 they were vindicated when a High Court judge upheld every aspect of their grievance, ordered the council to pay all the costs of the claimants’ case and quashed the 2014 decision to grant planning permission.

The developers submitted a tweaked application at the end of last year.

Jobs fair gets down to work again

ENFIELD Council is gearing up for another jobs fair later this month.

The local authority will be staging the event at the Green Towers Community Centre, in Plevna Road, Edmonton, on Wednesday, April 20, between 10am and 3pm.

Entry is free and open to anyone from the borough who is looking for work.

Three hundred people attended the last council-run jobs fair and some of them were able to secure jobs with employers they met at the event.

Alan Sitkin, the council’s cabinet member for economic development, said: “Every single person in Enfield, regardless of age or work experience who is looking for employment, training, apprenticeships or advice should attend this fair.

“Previous jobs fairs have reported back that both applicants and employers found the day rewarding, informative and a great tool to get a job. The council will do everything it can to help all our people to find good jobs and we really do hope they take advantage of this.”

Ray's got sax appeal

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

SWING king Ray Gelato is set to make it a memorable first birthday for Enfield's Black Barn on Saturday.

It's a year to the day since the venue, in a converted barn, in Forty Hall, Forty Hill, Enfield, opened and to attract an acclaimed jazz artist of his calibre is a measure of how successful its live music shows – held every second Saturday in the month – have become.

Who better to get the joint jiving and the party pulsating on such an auspicious occasion than Gelato, dubbed the Godfather of Swing, and his jazz quartet.

The Londoner (real name Ray Keith Irwin) is the son of an Italian-American GI and looks and sounds like a throwback to 1950s' Big Band swing era.

Now 55, the singer and tenor saxophonist has been performing his style of swing for more than 30 years.

His repertoire of up-tempo jazz and swing standards, from Count Basie to Louis Armstrong-influenced casino trumpeter Louis Prima, together with self-penned compositions, has made the popular crowd pleaser and showman a "must-see" act.

Who else can say they personally performed at Buckingham Palace for the Queen (twice) and privately performed at Paul McCartney's wedding to Heather Mills?

Jacob Thomas, a joint organiser of the Black Barn live concerts, a spin-off of Livestock (Enfield's version of Glastonbury), said: "We are delighted Ray has chosen to play the venue considering he recently sold out 14 nights at Ronnie Scott's".

Demand for the £15 tickets for Gelato's Black Barn appearance has been huge, but organisers have made a limited number available to purchase at the door.

The gig starts at 8pm and lasts until 11pm, with doors opening at 7.30pm. A licensed bar is provided by the Old Bell pub, in Baker Street, Enfield.

All that jazz: Ray Gelato will help celebrate the Black Barn's first birthday on Saturday

Snow way to make a sequel

THE HUNTSMAN: WINTER'S WAR
(12A, 117 mins)

MIRROR, mirror on the wall, who's the fairest of them all? Alas, not Cedric Nicolas-Troyan's functional prequel-cum-sequel to the 2012 fantasy Snow White And The Huntsman, which promises a yarn that comes long before happily ever after.

The Huntsman: Winter's War boasts jaw-dropping costumes, sets and production design, plus special effects-laden action sequences awash with rampaging goblins and a shape-shifting arch-villainess.

However, all of the slick, digitally rendered beauty cannot disguise uneven performances and a plodding script by Evan Spiliotopoulos and Craig Mazin, which cynically melds Hans Christian Andersen's The Snow Queen and the Brothers Grimm to woo audiences, who hanker for a live-action version of Frozen.

Kristen Stewart is noticeably absent as Snow White, but appears fleetingly in flashback. Chris Hemsworth and Charlize Theron reprise their roles as swaggering hero and scheming megalomaniac on a collision course with destiny.

If risible regional accents were a crime punishable under UK law, Oscar-nominated actress Jessica Chastain would be sentenced to life without parole.

Her gung-ho attempts at a Scottish burr catalyse several moments of unintentional hilarity when her acrobatic warrior isn't somersaulting through breathlessly orchestrated fight sequences.

Queen Ravenna (Theron) rules over her realm in the south with a steely glare, aided by the magic mirror. Her kind-hearted younger sister, Freya (Emily Blunt), falls madly in love with the Duke of Blackwood (Colin Morgan), who is promised to another, and falls pregnant with his child.

Charlize Theron and Jessica Chastain

Shortly after the birth of a baby girl, the Duke torches the infant in its crib, unleashing a wave of grief and fury in Freya that transforms her into The Ice Queen.

She moves north, establishes her own kingdom and kidnaps children from nearby villages to mould into an army of heartless soldiers.

"Do not love. It's a sin... and I shall not forgive it," snarls Freya to her trembling charges. Two of her finest warriors – Eric (Hemsworth) and Sara (Chastain) – defy this edict as adults and are cruelly punished.

Seven years later (taking us beyond the events of the previous film), Snow White has vanquished Ravenna, but the magic mirror continues to exert a malevolent control.

Eric leads a mission to consign the golden adornment to sanctuary, aided by dwarf Nion (Nick Frost) and his half-brother Gryff (Rob Brydon).

The Huntsman: Winter's War barely breaks sweat as it warps familiar fairytales to facilitate a heavy-handed fable about love's redemptive glow.

Blunt's solid portrayal of warped motherhood compensates for Theron's campy theatrics that threaten to nudge a bloodthirsty conflict into the realms of pantomime.

Hemsworth glowers, Chastain simpers and Frost and Brydon provide comic relief alongside Sheridan Smith and Alexandra Roach as a pair of potty-mouthed female dwarfs.

HIGHGATE VILLAGE GETS THE PRIMROSE HILL EFFECT

Purchasers looking to follow celebrities like Jamie Oliver, Jude Law and Kate Moss to swap life in swanky Primrose Hill for village life in Highgate should take a look at the new apartments available at Highgate Court by Bellway. Designed to suit the bohemian-feel of the area, the new urban style apartments are perfect for buyers looking for a new home with star appeal in a highly desirable leafy London suburb.

The penthouses and apartments of Highgate Court are contemporary and come with high-end sophisticated specifications, private gated parking, on-site concierge and are situated in a very convenient location, with only a minute or two walk to Highgate Woods, a 10 minute walk to Highgate Village, and just a stone's throw from Highgate tube station on the Northern line. Kevin Bowles, Sales Manager at Bellway Homes North London comments: "Despite its uber wealth and high class, Highgate seems to have an almost bohemian/artsy feel, it's a thriving neighbourhood, teeming with history, culture, A-list residents and welcoming, high quality pubs and restaurants. Brimming with beautiful 18th century architecture and green spaces; yet close to the city – it truly has that village feel that will attract buyers who demand the best in an extremely desirable location."

The development of 85 one, two and three bedroom apartments and penthouse apartments will have panoramic views towards London and Highgate Wood is located on the corner of Bishops Road and Church Road, the site of the former Haringey Magistrates Court and Highgate Police Station. The homes feel a world away from the city close to Hampstead Heath to the west and Waterlow Park to the south-east offering some of London's more picturesque landscapes.

Long considered one of the capital's most charming villages, the suburb of Highgate boasts a rich history. This distinguished neighbourhood, once part of the Bishop of London's hunting estate, has been a magnet for the fashionable ever since poet Samuel Taylor Coleridge made it his home in 1817. Meanwhile, its romantic cemetery is famed as the final resting place for a host of notable people like George Eliot, Christina Rossetti, Michael Faraday and Karl Marx.

Today homeowners are attracted to its two well-regarded private schools, Highgate School and Channing School. There are also a good number of state schools nearby including Saint Aloysius College for boys and Mount Carmel Catholic College for girls.

Good local road links include access to the A1 towards Islington in the south and the M1 in the north, making it perfectly positioned for travel in and around London.

Guide prices currently range from £600,000 to £1.75 million, for the one, two and three bedroom apartments at Highgate Court. For further information please visit www.bellway.co.uk or call 0333 202 141.

Taking the sensible option

By Matt Joy

FORGET those fancy European brands you think you know. When it comes to making a solid private purchase, the Hyundai i20 is about as sensible as you can be – and that's a good thing.

Smart, well-equipped, good value and offering a slick driving experience, it's hard to fault, but that hasn't stopped Hyundai giving the i20 an update for 2016.

Most importantly, it's now available with a brand-new three-cylinder turbocharged petrol engine, in two power outputs with impressive claims for fuel consumption and performance.

Equipment upgrades have been made across the range while there's a whole new model, too.

The i20 Active is designed to be a compact crossover, with a 20mm increase in ride height, unique bumpers, roof rails and a rear spoiler. The standard i20 is a neat and inof-fensive piece of design, but in the new Active form, there's a little bit more going on. The extra detail in the front bumper gives the front end some additional presence, as does the increased ride height. It's not as distinct from its conventional sibling as some rival offerings, but it will snare some buyers who find the regular five-door too conventional.

Hyundai's image has also come a remarkable way in a matter of years. Its badge carries as much weight as many European rivals and in cars like the i20 and Santa Fe, it is producing cars with distinction.

There's no sheet metal changes for 2016, so the i20 keeps its exterior and interior dimensions. Those seated up front should find it easy to get comfortable. Although the seats aren't huge, they offer useful support and the low-set dashboard means the view out is good.

While the Active model has suspension raised by 20mm, its effect on the i20's behaviour is minimal. The ride quality is good on the vast majority of surfaces, with only particularly poor surfaces creating significant intrusion into the cabin.

What really marks out the 2016 i20, however, is that new powerplant. Three-cylinder turbo engines used to be the preserve of Japanese Kei cars, but this Hyundai offering is a gem.

The on-paper performance might seem modest, but this belies how perky it feels. It will rev quite happily without significant engine noise, but better still is the generous torque which allows you to be lazy with the gearshifts and still make good progress. Despite that, the official figures are impressive with 58.9mpg combined and 110g/km of CO<sub>2</sub>, while the 120PS version feels no quicker on the road.

Go for the i20 Active model and you get 17-inch alloy wheels, LED daytime running lights, DAB radio and rear parking sensors for £15,225, and this comes with the 100PS 1.0-litre turbo engine only. The regular i20 starts at £10,995 for the S model and even this comes with electrically adjusted and heated door mirrors, height adjustable driver's seat, reach and rake adjustable steering wheel and an MP3-compatible stereo with USB and auxiliary inputs. The top-spec Premium Nav SE with the top diesel engine is £17,700, so the i20 is impressive value across the range.

If the i20 Active is big enough to suit your lifestyle, then it makes an exceptionally strong case as a private purchase. It's excellent value for money whatever specification you choose, while the Active model not only combines the best engine choice but also adds in a little more ruggedness. It's an ideal first car while older folk will find the raised driving position a useful boon, too. There are more sparkling drives in the class, but for many drivers this is of lesser importance than value and equipment.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

- (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
- (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
- (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified line and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect of an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

- (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
- (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
- (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

POCHETTINO: I STILL BELIEVE

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

MAURICIO POCHETTINO insists that Tottenham Hotspur can still win the Premier League title this season despite a disappointing weekend for the club which saw them lose more ground on leaders Leicester City.

A goal from Harry Kane was only enough to give Spurs a 1-1 draw at Liverpool on Saturday and Leicester took full advantage of this by beating Southampton 1-0 the following day to move seven points clear at the top with just six games remaining.

But head coach Pochettino feels that there is still everything to play for and has not given up hope on being crowned champions.

"We dropped two points, but with six games left we need to believe and fight," he said. "We showed we are ambitious and want to fight for the title.

"We need to believe because in football all can happen. It was difficult to go to Anfield and try and win the three points, but we were calm and we believe in our quality.

"I think we dropped two points, but playing Liverpool at Anfield is never easy. We need to feel proud of our players. We showed character. In the second half we started better but we conceded a goal. The way we fought and how we finished the game, we need to feel proud of the effort and the character we showed.

"We feel a little bit disappointed for dropping two points, but we need belief and need to be ready for the next game, which will be a tough match against Manchester United."

And Pochettino was full of praise for the exploits of Harry Kane after the striker scored his 22nd league goal of the campaign – the highest total for the club in a single season during the Premier League era.

He added: "Harry, for me, is one of the best strikers in the world. He again showed in this match that I am not wrong."

Kane expressed his pride at reaching the landmark, but his joy at the achievement was marred by the disappointment of Spurs' failure to win the game.

"It's a great achievement and one I'm very proud of," he said. "I got 21 last season and I'm on 22 now, but there are plenty of games left and I'll be looking to get a few more goals and a few more wins as well.

"There was a lot of talk at the start of the season that I would be a one-season wonder, but I have a lot of self-belief. Whenever anyone tells you can't do something, or that you're not as good as you think you are, you want to prove them wrong.

"Of course I want to do the best I can for myself, but when people are telling me I can't do it, it makes it even better for me when I go out there and work hard and do what I do and achieve what I achieve.

"You want to score in every game you play in. The goals feel even better when you get the three points. It would have been nice to go on and win the game. I think it's two points lost – we wanted to put the pressure on Leicester."

Remaining upbeat: Mauricio Pochettino still feels Tottenham Hotspur can win the Premier League title

Impressive Skolars seal a spot in semi-finals

THE London Skolars produced their best performance of the season so far to secure a 24-12 victory at Doncaster on Sunday and book their place in the semi-finals of rugby league's iPro Cup.

The Skolars had never previously beaten Doncaster, and it looked as if that sorry record would continue as they fell behind after just 30 seconds – a huge hit causing them to knock-on before Liam Welham pounced on the loose ball and scored an excellent solo try.

However, any fears that the visitors would endure a difficult afternoon were quickly dispelled as they got their reward for a period of sustained pressure on 12 minutes when Doncaster's defence failed to deal with a testing cross-field kick from Mike Bishay and Sam Nash took full advantage by claiming possession and touching down.

Mason Tonks restored the hosts' lead midway through the first half, but the Skolars again hit back as Dave Williams collected Bishay's grubber kick and crossed the line under the posts.

Bishay's conversion levelled the scores and he added a penalty soon after to leave the visitors 14-12 ahead at the interval.

And the Skolars made the most of a sloppy start to the second half from the hosts by extending their advantage on 48 minutes as Jason Tali was stripped of possession by Eddie Mbarga, who strolled over the line unopposed. Bishay's successful conversion left them two scores clear.

Some excellent defending from the visitors frustrated Doncaster's attempts to get back into the match, while a succession of injuries to both sides disrupted the flow of play.

The visitors' victory was finally confirmed when they scored again two minutes from time – Mbarga barging over the line from close range to seal an impressive triumph.

Head coach Jermaine Coleman said: "We made it clear at the start of the year that there was a lot of ability in this squad, and we expected to be competing for trophies."

The London Skolars, who are without a match this weekend, have been drawn at home to Keighley Cougars in the semi-finals, with the match due to be played on the weekend beginning April 30.

Borough set to avoid the drop

HARINGEY BOROUGH are on the brink of securing their place in Ryman Division One North for another season after romping to a 4-1 victory at struggling Heybridge Swifts on Saturday.

Having looked to be in real danger of relegation following a difficult start to the season, such has been the transformation in Borough's fortunes that this latest triumph saw them move eight points clear of the drop zone – needing just two points from their last five games to be mathematically certain of staying up.

Heybridge, in desperate need for points to boost their own hopes of avoiding relegation, started the game strongly and took the lead on 11 minutes through a George Cole penalty.

It took the visitors some time to get into their stride and Heybridge squandered several good opportunities to extend their advantage.

But Borough gradually worked their way into the match and crucially got back on level terms shortly before the interval as Dean Fenton applied the finishing touch to a swift counter-attack.

This goal proved to be a real turning point and the visitors went on to take complete control in the second period, moving ahead courtesy of Nana Asamoah's effort on the hour mark.

Jorge Djassi-Sambu added a third two minutes later before Anthony McDonald set the seal on a comfortable triumph by scoring in stoppage time as Heybridge were condemned to a defeat which saw them drop into the bottom three.

Haringey Borough host AFC Hornchurch on Saturday (3pm), before visiting Aveley on Monday (7.45pm).
